Jackie

As discussed the other day I have located the ACON gay hate murders list (see attached) that they provided to us on the 18 July 2016. I would presume that this is the list that they are operating from for their 'review'.

I have cross checked that list with ours. It is identical to ours in every way (even the order of names of the list). They are missing one murder (which was the double murder of MOKDAD & CREIGHTON). This has been categorised as No Evidence of a Bias Crime by Parrabell anyway as the motive for the murder was to do with a large scale fraud in which Mokdad had been charged and he was threatening the accused and his family, The accused eventually shot both of them in retribution to these threats.

ACON do have a couple of others (4) on the list under the label "Probable additional Cases" which you will see on the last page of their document. We did not explore these as they were not on our original '88' list and a decision was made not to expand the list as we would then end up with an endless list of names constantly being added.

Additionally you will see another one on ACON list (Gerard FLEMING) dated 2007 - again we did not explore this case as the date puts it well outside our review period.

I am still interested in their response and I am hopeful I can assist them in providing clarity or addressing the 'gaps' in the ACON review. For instance there is a number of names on the list that have been spelt incorrectly (ie, RUDNEY/ROONEY) plus others. To me its the important details of spelling victims names correctly that show the community that we care about the victims and making sure records are corrected to reflect accurate facts.

Let me know if/when you here from ACON
