Hello Narmon, Derek,
 Thanks for your email and glad you are planning to submit!
 Our timeline at present is to send out the RFO (Request for tender) on 22/7 and allow two weeks to submit which would mean a 5/8 deadline.
 So this timing should be ok with your leave??
 Jackie

Dear Jackie

Do you have an indication of the likely deadline for the RFO that Derek will be attending to.

I would ideally like to assist him in my role as Research Development Officer, but I am about to go on leave until 25 July. If the deadline is before I return, I will make arrangements for a colleague to assist.

Can you please advise as soon as you can. (I am on leave shortly).

Kind regards

Narmon

Dear Jackie,

I was going to email you the entire tender (including budget) Monday morning but will hold off in light of what you have just advised.

It's tricky because I have LEAVE next wed for a week. If things get tight I will send you our preliminary documents in any event [as I only have Monday and Tuesday available next week]

Thanks

Derek

Hi Derek

I had a meeting with my manager and mentioned your possible interest in submitting a proposal. If you are still keen, just let me know but don't work on a detailed proposal yet. According to our procurement policy, we will be sending you and the other interested parties that we nominated a 'Request for quote (RFQ)' which is not a template as such but will guide your proposal with key questions. It will save you time :) We are developing our RFQ now and once it is signed off, I can email it to you. Regards Jackie
