her son had been missing. A short time later in company with her husband, Mr Ian Anderson WARK attended Sydney Water Police Station. I gave them a description of the unidentified person and if fitted the description of there missing son. At 2.30pm on Thursday Mr & Mrs Wark accompanied me to the City Morgue at Glebe where they positively identified the body as Simon Blair WARK, D.O.B. 15.9.61 of The Pymont Arms Hotel, Harris Street, Pymont.

I then returned to the Station where I obtained a statement from Mr Ian Anderson Wark which is attached to these papers. Mr Wark stated that his son has been very distraught over the last couple of days prior to his death, not sure of the reason, though stated that he was a homosexual and wasn't coping with life. Mr Wark also stated that he had seen a Doctor Sleep from Randwick, then he was referred to another doctor in town who was a Psychologist, and was unsure he he was taking any medication.

I then contacted Doctor Sleep from ██████ Alison Road, Randwick who stated that he only saw Simon Wark twice, he resently finished an 8 year relationship and was on Prothiaden 75ml daily (Anti-depressent). He was a homosexual and had an Aids test which was negative. Dr Sleep referred Simon Wark to 1181, Psychologist. A medical history is attached. 1181 stated that Simon Blairs depression stemmed from the termination of an 8 year homosexual relationship. Simon Blair also tried to contact 1181 at 10pm 8.1.90 and 9.1.90 at her home at Double Bay but she was not home.
