it had the imitation wood grain panelling on the sides. At the time he had another person with him, I would describe him as being:- Male, 16years of old with a young looking face, about 5'6" tall, reasonably thick set, dark hair, olive complexion, and dark eyes. I think he could have been of Lebanese, Italian or Maltese origin.

I am not sure, but I think John said the young person was working for him at the shop in Parramatta. He would quite often place a notice in the shop window saying, boys wanted for afternoon work - apply within' or something like that.
