Dear Detective Chief Inspector Dickinson,

Prosecution of Moses KELLIE

I refer to your email of today's date in which you request information as to the basis for the determination that there be no further proceedings in this matter.

The case against the accused Mr Kellie was a circumstantial one.

In determining there was no reasonable prospect of conviction, there were difficulties with the admissibility of the tendency and coincidence evidence, as well as the reliability of the "admissions", and the statements made by the accused alleged to be "lies as consciousness of guilt", given his history of mental illness.

Yours faithfully,

Kara Shead
Deputy Director of Public Prosecutions
