

NSWP/D/2008/72208

Issue:

Review of 'Beat's' section within the NSW Police Force Handbook

Background:

The Performance Improvement and Planning Command has responsibility for ensuring the accuracy, reliability and relevance of the NSW Police Force Handbook.

The most pressing issue is to ensure that the handbook reflects the current policies, practices of the NSW Police Force and complies with legislation. As such the Performance Improvement and Planning Command has an obligation to ensure regular reviews are carried out.

Comment:

It has been some time since a comprehensive review of the 'Beats' section - NSW Police Force Handbook has been undertaken (Tab A).

It is respectfully requested that arrangements be made for a full review to be undertaken by the subject matter expert and that any amendments be referred to the NSW Police Handbook Force Coordinator, Performance Improvement and Planning Command for update.

Recommendation:

Forwarded for review, any amendments should be forwarded to the Coordinator NSW Police Force Handbook prior to the 1 July 2008.
