4. I can't remember what time it was, but it would of been after mid-night, some time in the morning of Saturday the 11th of January 1992, a young brother came into our place, I'm not sure who he was, and he said, "Come over here and have a look at this bloke mate, he's busted up."
5. Me, Richard and Max went into a abandoned house in Evereligh Street, I think it's number 63. I looked through the side window and I seen his legs, he was just lying there. We jumped through the window and had a look at him. He was busted up bad. There was blood all around his head. He had his shirt on but, his undies was down past his ankles.

- 6. I ran up to Redfern Railway Station and called for a Ambulance. About 10 minutes later the Ambulance came and I was inside with them and I saw two other brothers in there, they were only about 17 or 18 old. I don't know their names but I can picture them. They seemed to be communicating with each other without actually talking.
